Elk Point Elementary follows Terry Fox's dream

Elk Point Elementary School students and staff turned out in full force on Thursday for their annual Terry Fox Run, with three cancer survivors, teacher Debbie Wood (white jacket) and students Abby Rybchinsky and Jake Fontaine (with flags) leading the way. The run had a new route this year, with the huge group heading down 50 Street to 50 Ave., turning west past Elk Point Healthcare Centre and Heritage Lodge as they made their way to 54 Street, turning north to 52 Ave. and then east past Buckingham House and Markstad Park before heading north toward A. G. Ross Arena and the Canada Day stage. There they paused for a juice break and a group photo (above) before they returned to their classrooms to wind up the day. Many participants sported decals stating the names of cancer victims and survivors who they were representing in the run. This was one of thousands of school runs across Canada following Terry's dream of raising funds for research that would find a cure for cancer.

Chamber planning revitalized Extravaganza

By VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

With Elk Point Chamber of Commerce members describing last year's Christmas Extravaganza as lacking the excitement of years gone by and even as "a disappointment", those in attendance at the October 4 meeting agreed that it's time to revitalize the event and bring it back to the crowd-pleasing status it maintained for many years.

Chamber president Debra McQuinn was "almost ready to shut it down" until a friend with lots of ideas stopped by to visit her one evening and the two brainstormed, coming up with a list of potential ways to bring back the crowds and encouraging Elk Point and area residents to shop locally this festive season.

One thing McQuinn is determined to do is to bring the parade back onto the Extravaganza schedule, after last year's cancellation, due to lack of interest on the part of businesses who indicated they would not be entering floats, brought a flurry of negative feedback.

McQuinn also plans to bring the fireworks back downtown to the Iron Horse Trail staging area, and although the Eco Centre is now in the original site, she notes that there is "plenty of room east of the gazebo" for the display.

The always-popular Santa Claus photos will also return to the downtown area, with Nigel Lafrance volunteering to house that attraction in the new Coldwell Banker offices behind Apple Drugs. McQuinn has already booked photographer Leanne Gilbert for both afternoon and evening sessions. She also told the chamber that Santa has a new ride for his parade trip this year. He'll be waving from a locally-owned limousine, which will later offer rides around town to view the residential Christmas light displays.

With F. G. Miller High School's gymnasium currently under reconstruction, there will not be a craft show in that location this year, but McQuinn said some interest had been expressed by the seniors in holding a similar event at their recreation centre.

Other details of the event, from music and entertainment to bonfires to what form a prize draw or draws will take, were also up for discussion, and that discussion will continue at 7 p.m. this Thursday evening at the EcoCentre when the Extravaganza Committee meets for the first time. All those with ideas for improvement are welcome to join in on the planning session.

Destruction zone!

The gymnasium which has served the students and sports teams of F. G. Miller High School for decades is now an empty shell, awaiting rebirth as a new and exciting facility. Above, the folding doors which once closed off the stage hang forlornly above a gaping hole where the stage had been, and bare studs mark the location of former storage areas. At top left, the Crusader views the remains of his domain, while below, a large empty space marks the former location of change rooms, balcony and exercise room on the north side of the construction area. Stay tuned for further reports on the renovations as they progress.

... And just outside, a construction zone

Meanwhile, just outside the gaping, plywood covered hole in the gym's west side, work is underway on a large addition which will house new changing and washroom facilities, as well as a second level which has been planned for music practice rooms. Signage located at the front of the school indicates that the renovation and addition project is slated to cost $5.68 million and is expected to be completed in the spring of 2014.

Chamber

McQuinn said volunteer Leanne Gilbert has been taking businesses information brochures containing a questionnaire asking if the businesses plan to take part and what their role might be in Extravaganza, so the chamber can determine how to proceed with planning.

The brochure invites comments, questions and concerns the businesses might have, and is also designed to determine how much sponsorship might be expected.

"We want to get back on track with this," McQuinn emphasized.

Other business coming before the meeting dealt with the operation and maintenance of the Eco Centre.

Town Coun. Dwayne Yaremkevich reported that the centre's garbage can be picked up by the town crew along with that from trail-side bins.

A suggestion was made that excess ground water collected in weeping tile around the building could be piped into the drainage ditch along Railway Ave, rather than overworking the sump pump. This possibility will be explored further.

Capsule Comments

by Your Natural Choice Apple Drugs pharmacist, Chris Letawsky

- People over the age of 60 make up a large part of the traveling community. This age group is more susceptible to medical problems while traveling and do well to adhere to preventive measures like: wearing support stockings on long-distance flights; keeping up hydration; washing hands often; using disposable tissues and even using face masks in crowded situations and insect repellants when called for.
- Stem cells are unique cells in the body that have the ability to change into other types of cells. They could be used to repair spinal cord injuries, repair damaged hearts and even help Alzheimer's patients. It was found recently that stem cells remain alive up to two weeks after death. Donation of organs is common and in the future, stem cell donation could also be an option.
- It's always a concern whether the pollution we put into our air is causing health problems. The World Health Organization recently added diesel fumes to the list of chemicals that cause cancer. Diesel fumes were formerly listed as "probable" cause of cancer. It now has been reclassified to have "definite links with cancer".
- Muscle cramps could be caused by an electrolyte imbalance which is easily confirmed by a blood test. If that's not the problem, try leg stretches before bedtime and keep alcohol and caffeine consumption to a minimum because they can cause dehydration which can make cramps more likely to happen.
- For fast, courteous and informative prescription service, give our brand of pharmacy a try.

Nonstop volunteers

Those of us who think we are overloaded with volunteer commitments should take a step back and look at the dedication of Elk Point's volunteer fire department.

The Monday night meeting is one of the few parts of the firefighters' effort that they can pencil into their calendars, along with such events as the Canada Day parade, the arena's pre-ice-time floor washing and Christmas Extravaganza fire-tending. The balance of their commitment comes on the spur of the moment, when the siren on the A. G. Ross Arena wails its call to duty, whether in the middle of a good night's sleep, in the middle of Christmas dinner or during a work day.

Thanks, firemen, for your willingness to keep us safe.

WAY BACK WHEN...

Pumpkin power, skyline spire, success stories

HERE'S THE NEWS THAT MADE THE HEADLINES OF THE LAKELAND REVIEW AND ELK POINT REVIEW FOR THE WEEK OF OCT 9 IN...

1987

Minister of Hospitals and Medical Care Marvin Moore met with Elk Point Hospital Board and gave them the go-ahead to resume planning their nursing home project, despite construction costs that had doubled since the project was first approved in 1986. Catherine Buck accepted the Kates Memorial Scholarship and Albert Lim the K. C. Miller Best All-Around Student award at F. G. Miller High School's awards night.

1992

Six strong men carried the largest pumpkin at the Smoky Lake Pumpkin Festival on stage, but the giant orange orb, constructed mainly of chicken wire and recycled Elk Point Reviews, weighed only 42 pounds and was constructed by a group of Elk Point growers after frost claimed their conventional model. Plans to build a community facility with space of community services programs as well as parent nursery and playschool were still on hold, with only $245,000 in pledges a long way from the expected cost of such a facility.

1997

Construction was progressing well on Elk Point's new Roman Catholic Church, with its classic spire pointing skyward and an attractive addition to the community's skyline. Things were shaping up for another season at A. G. Ross Arena, with weekly work bees taking care of the necessary pre-season maintenance and cleaning, and the volunteer firemen coming in to wash down the floor in readiness for ice installation.

2002

Well over 200 plaques, medallions and certificates were handed out at F. G. Miller High School's awards night, with Kirsty Lindquist, a Grade 11 student for the 2001-2002 school year, named Top All-Around Student. Business was "alive and well in Elk Point," president Glenn Harms told the Elk Point Chamber of Commerce, adding, "There are some great success stories unfolding."

2007

Elk Point Elementary School students were part of a Canada-wide effort to achieve the Guinness World Record for the world's largest walk. North East MuniCorr was chosen by the Alberta Snowmobile Association as the winner of an excellence award for outstanding snowmobile tourism, promotion and development.

GUEST COLUMN

Judgement error

There is an old Welsh story from the 13th century about a prince who returned home to find his dog with blood dripping down its face. The man rushed inside and, to his horror, saw that his baby boy was missing and his cradle overturned. In anger the prince pulled out his sword and killed his dog. Shortly thereafter, he heard the cry of his son – the babe was alive! By the infant's side lay a dead wolf. The dog had, in reality, defended the prince's baby from a murderous wolf.

Though this story is dramatic, it demonstrates a point. It opens the possibility that the story we tell ourselves about why others behave a certain way does not always agree with the facts – sometimes we don't even want to know the facts. We would rather feel self-justified in our anger by holding onto our bitterness and resentment. Sometimes these grudges can last months or years. Sometimes they can last a lifetime. Oh, be careful with judgement!

I found another story that makes the same point. A young couple, Lisa and John, moved into a new neighborhood. One morning while they were eating breakfast, Lisa looked out the window and watched her next-door neighbor hanging out her wash. "That laundry's not clean!" Lisa exclaimed. "Our neighbor doesn't know how to get clothes clean!" John looked on but remained silent. Every time her neighbor would hang her wash to dry, Lisa would make the same comments. A few weeks later, Lisa was surprised to glance out her window and see a nice, clean wash hanging in her neighbor's yard. She said to her husband, "Look, John – she's finally learned how to wash correctly! I wonder how she did it?" John replied, "Well, dear, I have the answer for you. You'll be interested to know that I got up early this morning and washed our windows!"

Both these stories relate how we view others and make judgements. These examples were stories of judgement errors. Some of you are probably saying, "Wait a minute, she is spelling judgement incorrectly." Actually, the dictionary states I can spell it either as judgment or judgement. It becomes a choice.

deanna
EASTHOPE

from the FCSS desk

Mother Teresa, a Catholic nun who worked among the poor in India most of her life, spoke this profound truth: "If you judge people, you have no time to love them."

Basically, what is being pointed out by making quick judgments is that the creation of anger that leads to judgement errors. For example I will quote some words of the hymn written by Charles W. Penrose as follows:

*School thy feelings, O my brother;
Train thy warm, impulsive soul.
Do not its emotions smother;
But let wisdom's voice control.
School thy feelings; there is power
In the cool, collected mind.
Passion shatters reason's tower;
Makes the clearest vision blind."*

Judgment really involves clear vision and choice. For example, Alice in Lewis Carroll's classic Alice's Adventures in Wonderland, you will remember that she comes to a crossroads with two paths before her, each stretching onward but in opposite directions. She is confronted by the Cheshire cat, of whom Alice asks, "Which path shall I follow?" The cat answers, "That depends where you want to go. If you do not know where you want to go, it doesn't matter which path you take." This all leads to the result of choice. In the first story about the dog, the results of choice was the death of his faithful dog. In the second story, the results of choice was the labeling judgment of the neighbor in her ability to clean laundry. Both of these stories were judgment errors. In other words, we need to take some time to investigate or look at the whole picture before we make judgments. If we do, our "clearest vision will not be blind" and we will not make judgment errors.

A dedicated crew of Elk Point Further Education volunteers stop in each Tuesday to cut, sew, tie and finish an endless succession of quilts for distribution to those less fortunate who are in need of a warm blanket.

Quilters reach milestone

By Vicki Brooker
Review Staff

Elk Point Further Education's dedicated crew of volunteer quilters recently reached a new milestone, having created over 1,600 quilts for donation to the less fortunate since the project started in 1994.

But reaching the milestone didn't even slow them down. Since then, they've completed another 20, have 10 more ready to tie and several more in various states of progress. Storeroom shelves are piled with completed tops, large pieces of fabric for backing, strips ready to sew together and bags of batting and other fillers, such as used quilted bedspreads.

"We originally cut apart clothing to make the quilts," says Further Ed coordinator Verona Lea Flanders.

Elk Point Volunteer Firefighters are very proud of their vintage fire truck, which led the department's modern day lineup of emergency response units down the Canada Day parade route on July 1.

We salute those who have dedicated their lives to saving the lives of others.

October activities coming to the library

By VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

Elk Point Public Library will be a beehive of activities this month, starting with this Wednesday's Seniors' Tea at 2 p.m.

Next week, the popular after-school kids' crafts sessions return for another year, with their first session coming up on Thursday, Oct. 18.

Also back for another year will be the Alzheimer's Awareness coffee party that was such a big hit last fall. Watch next week's issue for further details.

The library will also be a great stop on Oct. 31 for all the trick-and-treaters, so make sure to check it out!

CARD OF THANKS

FERENCE

The family of Steve Ference express a "sincere" thank you to our extended family, relatives and friends for their attendance, support and condolences during the loss of our dear and loving husband, father, grandfather (Gido), uncle and friend. We are very grateful to all who attended the funeral service, sent messages of sympathy, the phone calls, food, beautiful floral arrangements, and the comforting cards. Thank you to everyone who visited Steve in his home and helped us in any way possible during his illness. He really appreciated the visits. Thank you to Reverend Sam Donaldson and Father Mark Sych for officiating at the funeral service with their kind and comforting words. Donations to the Elk Point Minor Hockey were sincerely appreciated. To Larissa Petterson and Staff at Grace Gardens, a thank you to you for your support, guidance and professional services.

The abundance of heartfelt love and thoughtfulness is truly a tribute to Steve's memory. To everyone, your overwhelming kindness to our family will be forever dearly remembered. We as a family will remember "Steve", our dad, as an extraordinary person for his spirit and for the life he gave us all, always having a smile, a joke, a kind word and a twinkle in his eyes; a gentleman who we will always dearly love and miss. The memories our Dad gave us and his internal strength will be enshrined in our hearts forever.

Olga and Family

"Now we mostly use donated fabric. Some people bring us completed tops and others come in for sewing bees," she noted. Donations of fabric, backing and batting are always welcome, as are more quilters.

"Seven or eight come every Tuesday," Flanders said. "We bring lunch and we're an easygoing group."

The ladies made 74 quilts between January and the end of May this year, "and also made pillows from the leftovers," she said.
